The screenshot shows the 'The High Performance Academy' sign-up page. The header includes the 'ed | HPA' logo. The main heading is 'The High Performance Academy' with the tagline 'Enabling the Future of Work!'. A central text box instructs users to 'Enter your details, select the checkbox and click on "Create Account"'. The sign-up form on the right is titled '< Sign Up' and contains the following fields: First Name, Last Name, Email, Password, and a checkbox for 'I agree to EdCast's terms of use and non disclosure policies'. A red rectangle highlights these fields. Below the form is a 'CREATE ACCOUNT' button. Further down, there are options to 'or login with' Google, LinkedIn, and Office 365.

Welcome to HPA

All members must be a part of at least one group in order to get important announcements

The screenshot shows the HPA dashboard interface. At the top, there's a navigation bar with 'FEEDS', 'CHANNELS', and 'GROUPS' tabs. A search bar is present, along with notification and MyGuide icons. The user profile 'Aishwarya' is visible. The main content area displays a grid of posts from various users, including Josh Weston and Deeksha Khaira. A central pop-up window titled 'Welcome to HPA' displays the message: 'All members must be a part of at least one group in order to get important announcements'. The left sidebar contains a section for 'Important' announcements and a 'Join a Group' section listing roles like LXP Administrators and MyGuide Admins.
